

GEOPLASMA

Geoplasma moved to the web at the speed of lightning.

CHALLENGE » Jacoby asked us to develop a website for a new venture called Geoplasma that could serve as a tool to inform the community about plasma arc technology as a viable and sustainable waste destruction solution.

SOLUTION » Soloflight developed a Flash website with a content management system that allowed Geoplasma's PR firm to easily update the site with current news and content. Additionally, we built the site to function as an avenue for community members of North Florida to become educated about Plasma Arc Technology and the benefits it would bring.

RESULTS » The visual appeal of the site was so well received that Geoplasma contracted Soloflight to produce supporting collateral and identity materials.